Tiny House, Big Possibilities

After more than a year of learning and applying their skills in carpentry, plumbing, electrical work and more, the MHS Building Trades classes have completed their first tiny house. The 8 foot by 24 foot home includes stone and cedar siding, shiplap interior, bathroom and kitchen facilities, and a sleeping loft.

Student Bowen Phillips (with videographer Chase Price) entered the house in the "I Built This" nationwide video contest, which showcases construction students' projects. Mooreville's entry won the People's Choice for the contest, winning a variety of tools and prizes for the students as well as a set of books for the class. Watch the video contest entry.

The house will be on sale soon, with proceeds benefiting the MHS Building Trades program and the students' next tiny house project. Follow the MHS Facebook page for more information on the listing date and site.
